THE INDIANA TRUST CO.

Office 23 South Meridian Street.

Has command of a wide range of investments. The fundamental quality of investments-security-is a thing more easily ascertainable and obtainable by a company of this kind than by a private person.

The conservatism which is a characteristic of a trust company, the continuous character of its business, its great financial responsibility and the extent of its experience all tend toward a maximum of security for its investments and at a minimum of cost to its patrons.

PER CENT. City of Indianapolis thirty-year bonds for sale. Prices, terms, etc., on application.

The whole issue-$600,000-of Indianapolis city bonds, which this company has taken, may serve as example of the kind of securities which it holds as essential.

Consultation in person or by letter is invited at all times.

SUGAR TOOK A FLYER

Trust Shares Touched 90, the Best Figure in Four Months.

Bulls Had a Sweeping Time on New York 'Change-Indianapolis Grain Business Still Slight.

At New York, yesterday, money on call was easy at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3@51/4 per cent. Sterling exchange was firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.88@4.88\2 for demand and at $4.87@4.87% for sixty days; posted rates, $4.88@4.891/2; commercial bills, $4.85%, @ 1.86.

Sliver certificates, 58%@59%c. Bar silver closed at 58%c per ounce; at London, 27d. Total sales of stocks amounted to 302,900 shares. The week opened on the Stock Exchange with the bulls in command of the speculation and practically controlling the market throughout the day, except at occasional intervals when the bears made weak demonstrations, or when the higher range of prices induced realizations of profits under the improved tariff prospects. Sugar was the feature of the dealings, and touched 90, which has never been done since last November, closing within 1/4 of the best figure, at a gain of 4% per cent., compared with the closing prices of Saturday. The preferred recorded an advance of 41/2. When 88 was reached the short interest made a drive on the stock, which sent it back to 87, but the purchasing movement was too strong for the sellers, and the upward trend was quickly resumed and continued almost to the close, the top price being made in the final offerings. In the early dealings London was a seller in small lots of St. Paul, despite which the stock rose in price, all offerings being readily absorbed by brokers, said to be acting for certain financial interests prominently identified with the country, shows an advance of 1%, the preferred moving up 1%. The other grangers, of which Burlington & Quincy was most active, participated largely in the general improvement making a gain of 1% on the day; Rock Island, 1%; Northwest, 114, and Northwest preferred, 1. Chicago Gas was in good demand, the final sales be-ing at an advance of 1%. Distilling ad-vanced %, reacted % and rallied only 14. The bond market was firm all day and closed strong, the chief changes being: Advances, Decatur & Springfield firsts, New Albany & Chicago consols, Knoxville & Ohio firsts and fives, each, 2. Government bonds were firm. State bonds were dull.

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE. The Week Opens with Some Activity

-Poultry and Eggs Weaker. On the wholesale streets yesterday there was a good deal of activity. The morning trains brought in a number of buyers and the dry-goods and millinery establishments, especially, had a busy day. Hardware men report some improvement in trade. On Commission row there is more doing than for some time past. Irish potatoes are in good request and firmer, but not quotably higher. Other vegetables are easier, Eggs dropped 2 cents, and poultry is weak at the reduction of Saturday. Provisions are meeting with larger distribution as prices decline. The hide market is more active at unchanged prices. Grocers report trade good. Prices on all staple articles steady. The leather market is rather quiet still. There is some better demand for harness leather and beiting. Druggists are seiling more paints and oils as the season advances. The mild weather has given more life to the seed market. The local grain market shows a little

CRISPI AS A HUSBAND. Varied Experience of the Italian Premier in Domestie Life. Francesco Crispi, Italy's Bismarck, has been as versatile in love as in war and politics. He has been married three times. He was a college student when, against his parents' wishes, he married his landlord's daughter, Rosina Sciarra. Their life together was happy but short, for the child wife dled two years after the wedding.

The failure of Mazzini's revolution in Lombardy left Crispi in prison. One day Rosalie Montmason, daughter of the woman who washed for the prisoners of the better class, knocked at his cell door. She wished merely his soiled linen, but Crispi's spirit of romance rose above all circumstances, and he made love to her through the bars. Crispi was described then by an admirer as "large, proud, handsome, defiant, with long curly hair falling over his shoulders." Even in prison he was such a love maker as an Italian girl could hardly resist, and Rosalie promised to follow him to the end of the world after his release. She fulfilled this promise almost literally. Hardly out of prison, Crispi, with his fellow-revolutionists, was compelled to leave the country. He waited long enough, however, to have a Jesuit father marry him to Rosalie. In the coming years Rosalie was the ideal wife, accompanying her exiled husband all over the continent, sharing his struggle with poverty, and cheering him in his disappointment. Italy and began treading the way to power and wealth, Rosalie's head became turned. She threw money right and left in her efforts to play the part of a grand lady. She spent more than Crispi could earn and borrow, and soon had him deep in debt. She loved animals, and filled her house with cats, dogs, birds and white mice. One evening Crispi, upon coming home, found seven new green silk gowns, just brought from the dressmaker's, spread over seven chairs in his parlor and on every gown lay a cat or a dog. Eventually he was driven to a choice between sending away Rosalie and deserting her, as she not only squandered his money and ruined his home, which repeatedly led to violent scenes in public. He assured her a large income and sent her to the country. Soon afterward he married the daughter of the richest government official in Syracuse. His enemies accused him of bigamy, but a judicial commission got him out of trouble by pronouncing his marriage to Rosalle null and void, because only a religious ceremony had been performed, and no civil contract had been acknowledged Rosalie still lives on the money supplied to her by Crispi, and her successor reigns over the best known salon in Rome, for the present. Mme. Crispi is not only pious and charitable, but also rich, handsome, intelli-but also developed phenomenal jealousy, gent and entertaining. About Tea and Coffee,

New York Commercial Advertiser. The last word has never been said on tea or coffee making. We have been told so often how the Russians brew their tea and the Parisians roast their coffee that the mere thought spells boredom. Now another new light has been shed in upon me from the reflections of a German cookery man friend declares that to make tea absolutely a la Russe you must first put a few teaspoonfuls of leaves in a basin and pour upon them cold water-a teacupful or so. if you are not in a hurry, and hot water if you are; and leave it for five minutes in the first case, and one minute in the second. Then you pour off the first water and put cour leaves in a seapot, when you add your boiling water in the ordinary way. A delicious flavor and a perfect wholesomeness are said to follow after.

Then as to coffee making. Have you ever tasted coffee prepared in Arabic fashion? It is delicious and very easily managed. You put your whole berries in a mortar and beat them into a soft consistency. Then you pour bolling water upon your coffee in a tin pot, and let it boll for just a minute. The grouts remain at the bottom and are poured out with the coffee into each cup. These prove quite a delicate bonne-bouche.

If you ever have sick headache and want it cured quickly and effectively, with none of the debilitating effects of drugs, just take a tablespoonful of red pepper, mix it with vinegar to a thick paste, and spread on a cloth-cotton or linen-bind upon the forehead with a handkerchief, from temple to temple; then take about two grains of the red pepper in a teaspoonful of vinegar and swallow it. The mixture on the forehead will burn not blister, and in the course of ten minutes the headache will disappear under the stimulating effects of this remedy.

CLOSED 1-4C HIGHER

Wheat Threatened with a Collapse at the Start Yesterday.

Liberal Clearances and a Decrease in the Visible Supply Sent All Grain Toward the Roof.

CHICAGO, March 5 .- Wheat was weak at the start to-day, but afterwards recovered and closed 4c higher for May. The mild weather, large Northwestern receipts and lower Liverpool quotations caused the early decline, but the liberal clearances, a decrease in New York stocks and a decrease in the visible supply turned the tide and May closed only 1/3c from the top. May corn is 1/2c higher and May oats 1/3c higher, but provisions closed lower all around.

The cold wave which it was feared might damage the wheat plant did not appear on schedule time. The early cables reported an increase of 712,000 bushels in the quantity of wheat and flour on ocean passage, and Minneapolis and Duluth returned 588 cars as the receipts at those two places to-day. A year ago they got 519 cars. The Liverpool market was quoted weak and 4d lower. with more disposition on the part of holders to sell. The bulls having such a number of materially bearish matters arrayed against them at the start had wheat for sale as soon as opportunity was offered, and the bears who were short were unwilling buyers as a rule at over 53%c for May. A few lots found buyers at 59%c at the opening. That showed a decline since the close on Saturday of from %c to %c. There were no symptoms of recovery for some time and not until the price had bumped several times against 59%c. The recovery which subsequently occurred was caused by New York advising a reduction in stocks there for the week of 1,200,000 bushels. The price under the latter influence rose to 59%c. There had been a good deal of buying against puts on the early decline, and on the rally all the wheat so bought was on sale. Much of it was disposed of at between 591/2c and 593/4c, but the quantity proved too heavy for the demand and a drop to 59% c was brought about by that sort of selling. There was some curlosity to ascertain where the 1,200,000 bushels de-crease at New York had gone, and in answer to an inquiry 1,000,000 bushels of the vanished amount was thus accounted for: Kingdom 500,000 and millers 200,000. There was another advance to 59% after the publication of the visible supply statement, which showed a decrease of 1,688,000 bushels. The day's clearances from the Atlantic norts were likewise a help to the bull side, amounting in wheat and flour to about 483,-000 bushels, and in addition to that New Orleans shipped 100,000 bushels of wheat. The influence of the early news again came into play in the absence of any outside demand for cash wheat, and the price for May wheat again went down to 59% 259% about 12:30 o'clock. The English visible supply was estimated to have decreased 1,400,000 bushels during last week. The price touched 59%c early in the day and sold sparingly at that price a second time near the close. The latest trading was at 59%c.

In corn there was a moderate trade, the interest increasing as the session advanced, the bulk of the trade taking place after the early advance. The opening was easy on the spring-like weather and liberal receipts. but the market was quiet and very little life manifested until a brokerage concern started in to buy, which caused prices to advance suddenly %c, with a little trading, until 37c was reached for May and 38c for July. Prices were fairly well sustained for a while at the advance, receding later 1/8 @4c, held steady, and closed with May only se from the top. In oats a firmer feeling prevailed. Prices advanced 40%c, and closed steady at the top. The strength was due largely to sympathy with corn and to the decrease in the visible supply.

There was very little doing in provisions early, a dull feeling prevailing. The market opened weak and lower in sympathy with the decline in wheat, and then ruled fairly steady, little disposition being shown by the packers to support it. There was, however, some selling of lard by one of the packing houses, but the offerings were taken readily by a foreign commission firm. Ultimately the market broke on free offerings, particularly of pork, by some of the packers, who turned sellers, a few stoploss orders coming in, no outside support, and continued trading by the commission house before referred to. The weakness was emphasized to some extent by the corresponding condition of live hogs at the yards. Later on there was a moderate reaction in pork on the commission house already mentioned turning buyer, with the closing steady for pork and weak for lard and ribs. Compared with Saturday, May pork is 11/2c lower, May lard .071/2c lower and May ribs .15c lower.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow are: Wheat, 70 cars; corn, 550 cars; oats, 275 cars; hogs, 20,000. Leading futures ranged as follows:

Why White Is Anxious. Philadelphia Press.

Mr. White has his entire fortune invested in a sugar plantation. And with the repeal of the bounty on sugar, and with no bounty on that article, his fortune would practically be wiped out of existence. He is a man of determination, and from the first has said that he would not only vote against the bill, but do everything in his power to defeat it if sugar was not protected. The President knew that Mr. White was a man of his word. That may account for his appointment to the Suprme Court Bench. He will take his seat on the bench next Monday ,and that will be a distinct administration gain. Because whoever is appointed in place of Mr. White, being a new Senator, cannot exert the same
